The question in regard to the amendment offered by Dr. Winston then came up, and that rentieman said le thought that the original bill and the Parker substitute should be first discussed before any action was taken on his own amendment.

Mr. Stovell, of Halifax, took occasion to address the House while the members were awaiting further developments. He said he was a living monument of the fairness of the Deuccrast in the county which he represented on the floor. He had voted for the Coles substitute, last inasmuch as that measure had been defeated, he proposed to vote against cory subsequent substitute, and he would cast his vote for the proposition as originally reported by the committee. He was somewhat interested in the framing of this law, because he proposed under its provisions to be the max according representative in Congress from the State region of the substitute of ferred by him, which have already been in the provisions of the substitute of ferred by him, which have already been in the provisions of the substitute of ferred by him, which have already been in the provisions of the substitute of ferred by him, which have already been in the provisions of the substitute of the substitute of the substitute of the substitute of the was in favor of the Waiton law as it stood new on the statute book, but he was will be the substitute was not adopted there would be no legislation on elections. where.

"It was then," said my informer, "that Mr. Webb gave up his work there and went to a new field. The meetings were kept up, however, and the pastor, assisted by willing helpers, conducted them every night. Commencing at 7:30, they would sometimes stay antil 11, indeed, this was frequently the case. We all loved our pastor, and still do, and while disagreeing with him on a great many subjects, were willing to let our objections lie, rather than create a disturbance, or to do anything which might hurt his feelings.

"It would readily be seen, however, that things were rapidly approaching a crisis, people diametrically opposed could not worship together in the same house, and, after a while these opposed to his doctrines asserted that they were and it was when this murmuring became loud and universal amongst the unsancified ones, that Mr. Daugherty fully realized the gravily of the situation, and decided that he would go, or else those opposed to his doctrine must.

"Thus it hinges at present. A meeting of the members is to be held Sunday evening at 2 o'clock to take action on this important matter.

"What will be done, would be hard to say, but we fully appreciate the Psalmist's verse when he says, 'Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity,' and appreciating this, we shall endeavor to have an amicable settlement of our differences, although, from present indications, it looks both improbable and impossible." MR. SAUNDERS' VIEWS.

therefore, did not vote.

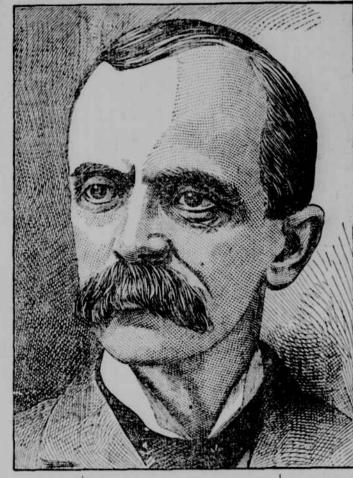

MR. SAUNDERS' VIEWS.

Mr. Saunders, in explaining his position, said that he was not opposed to the Soldiers' Home; that, on the contrary, he was willing to vote for the appropriation of $25,000, and that he did full justice to the patrictism, self-sacrifice, and devotion of those who are now, and have been, connected with the management of the Home; but that he helieved that the additional amount of $5,000 could be expended so as to give relief to a mouch larger number of disabled soldiers and soldiers' widows than could be possibly reached by giving this amount to the Home. That at the Home it cost about $125 a year to support an inmate. This would make $5,000 support about forty pensioners at the Home; but if this sum was expended in pensions to the individual widows and disabled soldiers at their homes in the counties and cities of the State, that it would reach between three and four hundred pensioners; that thoday, under the general and special pension acts, there are very many soldiers and widows drawing $15, $20, and $30 a year; that these amounts, small as they seem, have been acceptable offerings in many an humble home, and have afforded them comforts and necessaries which otherwise have been lacking.

Dr. Broughton to Speak at the Y. M. C. A.

Sunday Afternoon.

Throughout this week every heart has been touched and sympathy stirred by the burning of the Grace-Street Baptist church, where such powerful meetings were going on. These meetings are being continued at the Second Baptist church, under the able leadership... or. Broughton, who is a nowerful and helpful speaker. For weeks past the officers of the Young Men's Christian Association have heef, trying to secure Dr. Broughton to speak at the men's meeting, which is held every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Association Hall. The management is pleased to announce that Dr. Broughton will speak to-morrow afternoon at the hour named on "Moral Suicide." Dr. Broughton is a bhysician as well as an evangelist, and his address on this subject should be heard by every man over sixteen years of age in the city of Richmond. That there will be a crowd present goes without saying. The doors will be open at 3:39, and under no circumstances will any person under sixteen years of age be admitted.

The meeting will open sharply at 4 o'clock with a service of song. Mr. W. 3. Logan will lead the singing. The vocal features of the song service will be a solo by Mr. Thurston Cardoza and a duet by Messrs. Clowes and Cardoza, with Mr. Shepherd Webb as accompanist. Mr. G. Burton Mountcastle will be the cornetist. All men are cordially welcome to this meeting.

are routed from the body. Diseases due to deranged, underfed nervous tissues are rapidly cured, and good spirits, hopefulness, and an seagerness to get well take the place of melancholy, low spirits, morrose temper, and the rear of approaching catamity, that are the shadows of a rundown nervous system.

Nerve-tired, despondent, enfeebled persons again enjoy living after their feeble, shrunken nerve have been fed by a grand restorative like Paine's celery compound. Sleeplessness, usually due to an abnormally excited, overworked, but under-fed brain, vanishes with the coming of a rich tidy of nourishing blood.

Paine's celery compound purifies the blood, stores the nervous system with energy, and barries along the replacing of vorrout, diseased parts by healthy, active tissless.

Every city has men and women who praise Paine's celery compound in their homes, talk about it to their netribores, and rely on it in all cases of threatened ci actual sickness.

All persons who keep abreast with the achieveractic of the day know the remarkable strengthening effects Paine's celery compound an bring about where the brain or the nerves need refreshing, restoring, and regulating.
